Avoiding the Identity Crisis

Jean Allen

"Who are you?" the priests and Levites asked

John. "Who are you and what is your reason for being? Are you this, are you that? How can we trip you up and get you to claim something preposterous? How can we diminish your importance to the people and let them see what a fraud you are?"

But, you know what? John gave them nothing to grab onto because he desired no claim to fame. He didn't have grandiose ideas about who he was or who he wanted to be. He was just a voice in the wilderness, no one terribly important; the important one was coming soon but he was not the one. However, this didn't mean that John had no sense of himself; he was in no way needy of approval from anyone because he knew exactly who he was. He didn't need to prove himself to anybody or make himself seem important because he had already found his identity in God.

Who are you? What is your reason for being? Do you need approval or admiration? If you don't get approval and admiration, does it make you resentful or make you feel diminished somehow? Are you content to play second fiddle because what you do is not what creates your whole identity? If you suddenly found yourself incapacitated and unable to do what you have always done, would that completely erode your sense of worth and value? How much do you do simply in order to justify your existence?

The need to find our worth reflected in the eyes of those around us is deeply human but that's not where we will find it. That need puts limitations on who we are and who we can be. Thanks be to God that John and Jesus had discovered where their value and worth resided. It was not in the eyes of people but in the eyes of God. They did not find their identities in how much they were loved by people.

It was in how much they were loved by God.

Re: Gift card and email scams

Recently parishioners have received emails from scammers impersonating their priest, bishop, or key people in the parish.

No priest, nor parish or diocesan employee will ever ask you for a “favour” or to purchase gift cards! The scammers set up a fake email address under the impersonated person’s name. The email appears to be coming from the real person, but upon further scrutiny the scammer is using a different email account. Almost all of these emails are brief and ask for a favour to buy gift cards or send money.

Please act with caution and be prudent when it comes to responding to requests for money, even from someone claiming to be a priest or from individuals within the Church community. Priests and church employees will not request vague favours, payments of gift cards, bitcoin or wire transfers.

All donations for legitimate parish and diocesan activities are made through traditional verifiable methods and are made to the charitable organization, not individuals.

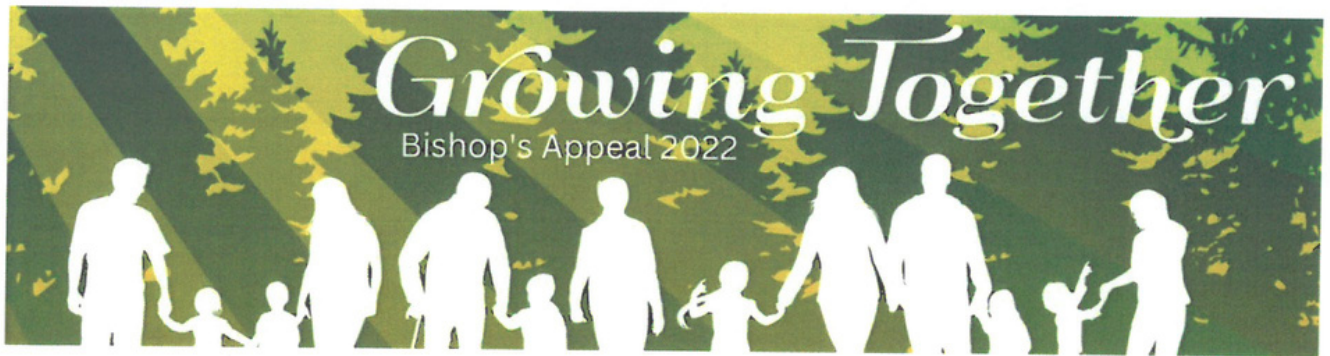

Diocese of Victoria employees and priests have an official @rcdvictoria.org email address and parish emails are well advertised and on their website. The Diocese also uses noreply@myparishcast.com for group email communication.

Before you give money to anyone or any organization; stop and talk to a trusted friend or relative to determine the authenticity, appropriateness and validity of the request or call the Diocesan Finance Office 250-479-1331.

If you feel that you have been the victim of a financial scam, you are encouraged to make a report to the police.

Please see the BC government website for a list of common scams and some resources:
