BY JEAN ALLEN

"Just as I have loved you, you also should love one another."

In Jerusalem, temple sacrifices were being offered every moment of every day as the prescribed way to appease an angry, violent God and keep oneself clean, holy...and safe! When Jesus died on the cross, he totally changed the meaning of sacrifice. Up until his death and resurrection, a sacrifice was something that was done to save only the ones offering the sacrifice. It was all very self-oriented. "Cleanse me. Save me. Don't be angry at me. Keep me from harm."

But when Jesus freely gave himself over to our human violence to set us free from the bondage of that violence, the meaning of sacrifice changed from 'accepting violence done to another in order to save ourselves' to 'the free choice of self-giving in order to save others.' Jesus's command to love one another the way he loves us, is Jesus saying that he desires us to seek to have Agape Love, the very same love in which he suffered and died in complete compassion and forgiveness because he knew that is who God is. This kind of love makes religion about the needs and safety of everyone and everything else, not just about our own needs and safety.

Agape love means letting go of the ego and all its wounds and all the ways it seeks to blame others and transfer the pain to them. It means seeing everyone as worthy of compassion and forgiveness. There aren't too many human beings capable of consistent Agape Love but that doesn't mean that Jesus isn't serious about us endeavoring to widen our hearts to receive his love so we will have the capacity to love the way he loves us. We have a definite choice every moment of the day: either we live in the Old Testament realm of accepting sacred violence solely for our own benefit or we choose to be healed by Love so we can share that Love. We're either here for our own private religious security or we're here to help each other home.

The choice is ours.

Community Services

Respectfully Fr. Alfredo Monacell and parish,

I would like to introduce myself briefly to you. I am a Catholic woman age 30 moving to Victoria during the week of the 23rd of May (exact arrival date is still to be determined). I am looking for a Catholic/Christian family to rent a single room from (or housemates). I would welcome a situation where I can help out with household duties to cover some/all of my rent although I am not opposed to a full cash paid rent. Also, I am in the process of applying for a police check which I can send to interested parties who may need a nanny or part-time baby sitter.

Would you be so kind as to pass word along to anyone wishing to rent out a portion of their home or find a house-sitter? I am able to commit for a year length lease although even a short stay would helpful until I am settled and can find my own place.

Perhaps it would be possible to place a copy of this letter on an entrance board, or if you think it appropriate in the bulletin? Thank-you for your help.

I can be reached at 613 227 7104 or elisabethakfritz@gmail.com .

Sincerely,
Elisabeth Fritz
