Going Under To Be On Top

Jean Allen

Peter, James and John had an incredible mountaintop experience. But, guess what. It didn't change them all that much. It didn't immediately make them spiritual giants. It didn't open up their understanding in a way that fully prepared them for the upcoming ordeal of Christ's crucifixion. Peter beheld Christ in all his glory on the mountaintop and still denied him in the end. Peter, James and John had no words of hope and courage for the rest of the disciples as they hid away in fear. Having been witnesses of the transfiguration and having heard the actual voice of God was not their point of transformation. That came later. Meanwhile, they had to struggle – like us all – with their human weaknesses and their short sightedness.

Were they particularly dense? What was the matter with these guys that, when Jesus was crucified and buried, they couldn't recall instances like the transfiguration or the feeding of the 5000 or the calming of the storm or all Jesus' other miracles? When Jesus was on the cross, why were they not confident that Jesus knew what he was doing and that everything would be all right? What was wrong with them?

There was nothing wrong with them. They were just human and God and Jesus knew that before these followers could be filled with power, they had to come face to face with everything they were not. They had to find out that just because they were chosen didn't mean they were special. They weren't spiritual giants just because they hung out with Jesus. They were weak. They had to come to finally know there was nothing inside of them that made them better than anyone else. And it was crucial for them to discover that. Just like it's crucial for us.

Having great spiritual experiences that fill us with awe and wonder is not what will bring us a powerful and effective spiritual life.

We have to be empty before we can be filled.

INFORMAL SURVEY - ASSISTIVE LISTENING SYSTEM

To fulfill a recent Diocesan Appeal project for our parish, we are going to be purchasing an "Assistive Listening" system for the worship area. This system should provide our hearing impaired parishioners with some convenient options to hear better during Mass.

In order to ensure we purchase the best system for our parish needs, it would be very helpful to have an estimate of how much it would be used. If you think you might benefit from this "Assistive Listening" system, please contact the parish office. We also need to know if you are currently using hearing aids and whether or not you have a smartphone (iPhone or Android) and what Mass you normally attend.

If you have any questions regarding this "Assistive Listening" system, please email Brian Fox (briandfox@gmail.com).

St. Andrew's Grad 2023 Bottle Drive - Thank You

Our hearts are warmed with the support given by the Island Catholic community to our St. Andrew's Graduation Class of 2023. From the families who pre-booked trucks, to the constant flow of vehicles dropping off their empties, to the wonderful Grad 2023 students and parents who volunteered their time on a VERY RAINY Saturday. We raised over $850! With Gratitude!

Cash, cheque and e-transfer donations are used to buy food.
